

Restaurant Špacapan

In 1973 Špacapans took over the old village restaurant in Komen. Since it was open it leaves the significant marks in carst cuisine.

They put a lot of emphasis on carst local and homemade ingredients and they buy some from local farmers.

They like good food, good wine, good music, beautiful ambient and good company. All those feelings they want to transfer to their guests.

Philosophy of the kitchen is very simple. From the local ingredients make the best possible carst dishes - taste of Carst. Their culinary story speaks about the carst land and story of love that connected them with the land. Špacapan house is their home and their wish is that their guest would feel like home. They believe that this is the story you can sense on the plate.

They run family restaurant and their coworkers are their family members and their guests are their friends.

Welcome home.
